

Scargill

is 'most hated'

Sun 31 JAN 1985

man alive

By MAURICE CHITTENDEN
WHAT a dummy! Miners' leader Arthur Scargill has been voted the most hated man alive.

He pipped Libya's mad Colonel Gaddafi in a survey among visitors to London's Madame Tussauds waxworks.

Topping the hate league of the figures on show

Scargill . . . hated

was the long-dead Adolf Hitler.

But a spokesman promised: "No, we're not moving Arthur into the Chamber of Horrors."

Fourth place went to Premier Margaret Thatcher just ahead of President Reagan.

Sir Winston Churchill knocked Superman from

Diana . . . beauty

top place among the favourite heroes in the annual poll.

Third was Harrison Ford alias Indiana Jones.

Princess Diana won the beauty title for the third year running with soap opera stars Joan Collins of Dynasty and Victoria

McEnroe . . . ace

Principal of Dallas Joint second.

Boy George was voted both the favourite figure in the museum and also best in entertainment, pipping Michael Jackson and David Bowie.

Temperamental tennis ace John McEnroe was voted top sports personality.